

Schneider Electric Industries SAS (“we”) uses your personal information to manage your registration and participation to Innovation Talk: Are you ready for 2030?, to update your information as it is recorded in our systems and to manage our commercial relationship. You will find more detailed information in our Data Privacy and Cookie Policy.

Processing is based on our legitimate interest, or on your consent when it is required. Some questions in the registration form are mandatory, and in the absence of answer we would not be able to process your registration. These questions are marked (*).

The information may be shared with other Schneider Electric affiliates involved in the performance of these purposes: we will communicate your information to persons and entities authorized to manage your participation to Innovation Talk: Are you ready for 2030?; and, in case you have consented to receiving news and commercial information, we will communicate your information to our marketing teams.

During registration, you may choose to have your information included in the event electronic directory. If so, your information will be available to other participants in the event Mobile App. This enables participants to find and message each other. The App includes settings to control if other participants can message you.

If you visit us at our booth and you accept that we scan your badge, and/or QR code or if you provide us with a business card, we may follow-up with you with information relating to our products and/or services. You will always have a possibility to opt-out on further communications.

We will keep your information for as long as needed for these purposes: detailed registration information, including food preferences, transportation and optional passport information to facilitate visa will be deleted after the event. Information relating to your attendance, centers of interest and satisfaction (e.g. surveys) will be kept for the duration of our commercial relationship and after as long as you maintain an interest in our activities.

You have a right to access and rectify your personal information. You may also object to processing on grounds relating to your particular situation, request erasure or restriction. When you have provided consent, you may withdraw it at any time. If you want to exercise these rights, or if you have any questions relating to the way we process your personal information, you may contact us at munish.bajaj@se.com

Schneider Electric being a global group, personal information may be processed outside of your country of residence, including outside of the European Union in countries which do not have equivalent standards for the protection of personal information. Schneider Electric ensures that transfers comply with applicable legal requirements, and that personal information is granted a high level of protection wherever it is processed in the world. To obtain more details on these transfers and, where appropriate, copies of the applicable safeguards put into place, you may contact Global-Data-Privacy@schneider-electric.com

We have appointed a data protection officer (“DPO”). If you need any further information regarding how we process personal data, or if you believe that we may have processed your information in violation of applicable law, you may contact the Group DPO at dpo@schneider-electric.com. You may also contact a supervisory authority.

September 2020